YEAR 2013
NON-JUPAS SEMINAR SERIES @ AST

A Path to Success
The Division of Applied Science and Technology conducted a number of non-JUPAS seminars for students who aim for UGC-funded programmes after graduation. Representatives from various UGC institutes were invited to provide details of their academic programmes and articulation opportunities via non-JUPAS.
To address the needs of students who are eager to pursue further study at the government-funded institutes, representatives from different computer-related UGC programmes were invited to give seminars on non-JUPAS admission in the past few weeks. Information shared during the seminars, ranging from (1) the highlights of their offering programmes, (2) their newly designed curriculums for the 3-3-4 system, (3) the procedure of making non-JUPAS applications, and (4) the important points to take note of in programme selection. The following table gives greater details of all the seminars:

We are glad to see that all the seminars were well-received. Over 700 students from AENG, AScABS, AScCIMP, AScISD, and AScNSA attended these seminars. During each seminar, our students asked good questions. Students who attended these seminars expressed that the invited speakers were kind and willing to stay after the seminar to answer more questions. Through this series of seminars, we believe that our students have a clearer picture on articulation to UGC programmes. In addition, they should have a good idea on what to prepare for the upcoming interviews.
